We are writing this letter with the highest level of recommendation for Mike Callahan and the Callahan Construction Team. From the beginning of our renovation process, our architect told us Mike was his builder of choice. We interviewed several contractors and immediately felt comfortable with Mike. We trusted he would deliver on what he promised. There were many issues that arose that were out of everyone's control and Mike exhibited nothing but professionalism, patience and comforting guidance. He walked us through these stressful issues with a caring touch, always putting the needs of our family first.

Mike has complete control of his team each and every day. We learned rather quickly that the team is just as important as the contractor. With our young children in and out of the project on a regular basis, the Callahan Team was always polite and respectful. They are a very efficient group that truly takes their profession seriously and that comes from Mike commanding their respect at all times.

Another nice quality about Mike and his team is that they consistently answered their cell phones or returned calls immediately. There was never a question, issue or thought that went unanswered. The team is flexible, accommodating, and willing at all times to execute on the client's needs and desires.

Mike's experience, vision and execution are the exact qualities we were looking for in a contractor. He certainly went above and beyond in delivering on our expectations. We could not be more pleased with the result of our dream home.

We are available for calls and/or tours of our home to assist anyone in choosing Callahan Construction as their builder.

Sincerely,

Carrie & Steve Souhrada
